QUICK SHEET · CONSTITUTION OF THE FEDERATED REPUBLIC

Fiscal Architecture

Where the money comes from, who may spend it, and what happens when the budget fails. The Assembly originates; the executives propose their own domains; an independent authority guards the currency; and if the budget stalls, government keeps running but the legislators' own pay stops.

Article XII · §12.1–§12.3, §12.4, §12.6

HOW THE BUDGET IS BUILT — §12.2

ORIGIN
Assembly Originates
The annual budget begins in the Assembly — not with either executive. Origination sits with the chamber closest to the people; ordinary passage needs both chambers.

→

INPUT
Two Domain Proposals
Each Consul submits a proposal for their own domain (civic / security and foreign), published to the NRS. The Assembly is not bound by it. A Consul's silence can't stall the process.

→

DISCIPLINE
Balance or Justify
Pass a balanced budget or publish a structural-deficit justification, reviewed by the MA for accuracy. Deficits above the MA threshold need a published plan back to balance.

→

CHECK
Executive Review
The enacted budget is legislation — the CC's reconsideration notice applies; the suspensive veto does not (as with all required legislation). The MA reviews any deficit justification for fiscal accuracy.

WHERE MONEY LIVES — §12.1.A, §12.3

The Monetary Authority

The MA is a constitutional institution independent of both executives and the Legislature. Principal decision-makers come through an independent candidate process and 2/3 Senate confirmation, with staggered terms and cause-only removal. No single actor may appoint or remove a majority. Vacancies do not suspend its functions (§12.1.a).

National Revenue Fund

Only the Legislature may impose federal taxes, duties, and tariffs. States, Territories, and local governments retain taxation within their jurisdictions. Republic receipts enter the National Revenue Fund and leave only by appropriation. Non-discrimination applies and the EM audits annually (§12.3).

WHEN THE BUDGET FAILS, AND THE BACKSTOP — §12.2, §12.4, §12.6

Budget-Failure Failsafe §12.2

`Interim appropriation` · `Prior-year level` · `Legislators' pay withheld`

No budget by the start of the fiscal year? An interim appropriation kicks in automatically — courts, active defense authorizations, social-state continuity, civil-service pay, and debt service continue at the prior year's inflation-adjusted level. No new or expanded programs are permitted under it. And from that day every legislator's pay is withheld, released only when a budget passes. No shutdown brinkmanship without personal cost.

The Social-State Backstop §12.4 · §12.6

The MA manages the National Endowment as a social-state reserve (§12.4). Certification of Severe Revenue Contraction activates disbursements; beyond 12 months, statutory authorization must be renewed at intervals no longer than 12 months. Non-renewal or MA certification that contraction has ended stops disbursements and lapses associated adequacy reductions. Surplus-year funding is mandatory (§12.2). Equalization is in §12.6; the Legislature responds to an EM failure finding within 90 days.

NUMBERS WORTH REMEMBERING

120	days before the fiscal year — default deadline for Consul domain proposals (§12.2).
3	mandatory social-state systems: healthcare, social assistance, free education (§12.1).
1	currency issuer — the MA alone. No State-issued legal tender anywhere in the Republic.
90	days for the Legislature to respond after an EM finding that equalization has failed (§12.6).

A theoretical constitutional design project — not the law of any existing nation.
