

Article II — The Dual Executive

Two consuls, two domains, one Legislature both must answer to. Neither runs the Republic alone — and neither can be removed the same way.

§2.1 — §2.16
18 provisions

THE SPLIT

Legat Consul	EXTERNAL	Civic Consul	DOMESTIC
Domain: military authorization, intelligence, treaty-making, border security, foreign affairs.		Domain: budget, civil service, domestic legislation, Council of Ministers, fiscal administration.
6 yrs TERM • DIRECT ELECTION	§2.13 REMOVAL PROVISION	No fixed TERM • ASSEMBLY-ELECTED	§2.6 REMOVAL PROVISION

CONCURRENT REVIEW

Both consuls review every bill from the same date of final passage — §2.3.a and §2.7 run on identical 10-business-day clocks.

TWO VETOES, DIFFERENT STRENGTH

LC Domain Veto §2.3.a	CC Suspensive Veto §2.7
Return + grounds → SC domain ruling → Senate 2/3 or lapse	Return + grounds → Tabled 1 month → Senate 2/3 or re-pass
10 BUS. DAYS 14 SC DAYS Session IF LAPSED	10 BUS. DAYS 1 mo TABLING Re-pass IF FAILED

IF THE CIVIC CONSUL SEAT IS EMPTY — §2.6.A

STAGE 1 • 21 DAYS	STAGE 2 • 45 DAYS	STAGE 3 • 21+21 DAYS	STAGE 4 • AUTOMATIC
Assembly Elects Absolute majority of full seated membership.	Senate Designates 2/3 supermajority names a sitting Assembly member.	LC Nominates Senate confirms by simple majority.	Seniority Fallback Most senior Assembly member by continuous service who meets CC eligibility requirements assumes the role by constitutional operation.

NUMBERS WORTH REMEMBERING

60% of full seated Assembly to remove the CC by constructive vote — must name a successor in the same motion.	§2.8 Duty of Refusal — either consul must refuse a manifestly unconstitutional order, in writing, published to the NRS.	§2.16 Removal under any provision is a political process — it does not bar criminal prosecution for underlying conduct.

TWO MORE LOAD-BEARING MECHANISMS

Council of Ministers §2.14 • §2.14.a	Emergency Governance §2.11
CC appoints → Accountable to CC → Cross-domain lead if crisis spans both consuls	Scope declared → Published to NRS → Time-limited, renewable only by vote
The Cross-Domain Emergency Lead exists for the narrow case where a crisis touches both LC and CC domains at once — it does not transfer authority, only coordinates it.	No emergency power is open-ended. Every declaration states its own scope and expiration; extending it requires the same body that could have refused it.
