QUICK SHEET · CONSTITUTION OF THE FEDERATED REPUBLIC

Recall & Removal

The constitutional ways a constitutional officer leaves before their term ends. Different officers, different thresholds, different deciders — but one rule applies to every single one of them.

§2.4.a, §2.6, §2.13, §3.2, §3.4, §4.2, §4.3.a, §7.4, §7.5, §7.9, §9.9

WHO REMOVES WHOM — AND HOW

OFFICER	MECHANISM	THRESHOLD	DECIDED BY
Civic Consul	Constructive vote of no confidence — names a successor in the same motion	`Absolute majority`	Assembly alone §2.6
Legat Consul	Legislative track, or Senate-referred popular track	`2/3 both chambers` or `60% referendum + 55% participation`	Legislature or electorate §2.13
SC Justice	For-cause only — constitutional breach, demonstrated permanent incapacity, or serious misconduct	`2/3 both chambers`	Legislature, concurrent vote §4.3.a
Inferior Court Judge	Two for-cause tracks: legislative removal or judicial discipline under SC oversight	`2/3 both chambers` (legislative track)	Legislature or judicial discipline §4.2
Monitor Generals & independent officers	Monitor Generals: initiated by the branch they do not audit; filing does not suspend authority. Other officers: initiated by 1/3 of either chamber or 2 of 3 Monitor Generals, grounds published to the NRS	Monitor Generals: national referendum, 60% of votes cast with 55% participation. Other officers: `2/3 both chambers` on statutory grounds	Monitor Generals: the public. Other officers: Legislature §9.9
LC domain officers	LC dismissal or Senate removal	LC dismissal at any time; Senate majority of full seated membership	LC or Senate §2.4.a
Assembly / Senate Member	Expulsion by the member's own chamber	`2/3 own chamber`	Their own chamber §3.4
Assembly / Senate Member	State recall (Assembly members: State or Territory) — decided by the legislature or governing authority, or the eligible voters; no executive, agency, or court may recall alone	`State-defined`	Legislature, governing authority, or voters §3.2(6)

§7.5 · §7.9 The one rule that applies to every row above: every removal must run through a mechanism this Constitution establishes or authorizes (§7.9). Removal never displaces criminal liability — a removed officer can still be charged (§7.5). Constitutional accountability and criminal accountability run on separate tracks.

TWO DESIGN DETAILS WORTH KNOWING

The Early Departure Clause

A member who resigns, is expelled, or is recalled at any point during a term is deemed to have served that full term for term-limit and cooling-off purposes (§7.4(3)). Closes the obvious bypass — leaving early does not avoid a term limit. Applies to every constitutional office, including Assembly members and senators.

No Pre-Election Blackout

SC justice removal rests on narrow grounds, published reasons, and 2/3 of both chambers — no special pre-election review. The Monitor General referendum follows its separate §9.9 deadlines.

NUMBERS WORTH REMEMBERING

Absolute majority of the full seated Assembly removes the CC while electing a successor. The caretaker Acting CC under §2.6.a is not subject to §2.6 removal.

90 days, at most, before a Monitor General removal referendum must be held (or the next federal election, if sooner). An untimely vote closes the proceeding (§9.9).

Term For a Monitor General, a failed referendum bars the same or substantially similar grounds for the remainder of that term, unless new conduct or evidence arises (§9.9).

A theoretical constitutional design project — not the law of any existing nation.
